

Institute for Advancing Justice Research and Innovation

GEORGE WARREN BROWN SCHOOL OF SOCIAL WORK

Mission Statement: The Institute for Advancing Justice and Innovation aims to advance science to improve well-being of individuals and families impacted by criminal justice system involvement.

- Agency Information: The Advancing Justice Institute seeks to invent, test, leverage, and coordinate the best reentry practice and policy contributions for dissemination and capacity building.
- Practicum Description: This practicum includes research-based skills development. Research Skills: Work with Institute faculty and staff to develop evidence driven tools for re-entry practitioners, which includes preliminary assessment data; support the Institute team in developing peer-reviewed publications and policy briefs; assist with concept development and grant funding requests to both federal and private foundations; qualitative data analysis of genogram and social network scales to inform programming for loved ones of those getting out of prison.
- Minimum hourly requirement 15; maximum is 25. Evening availability and reliable transportation required.
- Three concentration-level practicum positions available.*
- Location: Brown School of Social Work, Washington University
- Start Date: Immediately
- Contact Information: Stacey McCrary, MSW
Advancing Justice Institute Operations Manager
CMHSR Project Manager/T32 Coordinator
stacey.mccrary@wustl.edu
- Practicum supervisor: Carrie Pettus-Davis, PhD, MSW
Founding Director, Institute for Advancing Justice Research & Innovation
Founding Co-Director, Smart Decarceration Initiative
Assistant Professor
cpettusdavis@wustl.edu

Campus Box 1196 One Brookings Drive St. Louis, MO 63130-4899 • (314) 935-6025 • advancingjustice.wustl.edu

Washington University in St. Louis